

Karyo Ko2 Alkaline – pH Balancing Ionizing Drops

"These are my mojo drops! They give me an abundance of energy and clarity. I feel overall great when I use them" - Dr. Diana

Ko2 Alkaline - pH Balancing Formula

Create instant healthy and energetic Alkaline water to help support a healthy pH balance in your body. This unique ionized solution helps with optimal hydration and delivers key electrolytes to your body.

How the Karyo Ko2 Drops Work

There are many elements that our systems need, our bodies, our food, water in all aspects of our life. Washing our bodies, clothes, yards, all of those are affected by the water that it is exposed to. It absorbs every bit of information that water holds inside of it, due to contamination of free radicals in our environment the information contained within has negative vibrations that are translated to our insides upon consumption.

If the elements of that water are full of negative vibrations due to any free radicals present, the damage is a slow breakdown process of the system showing signs and symptoms of, fatigue and illness.

When we add our mineral blends each having specific effects, the end result is to restructure the molecule and release the free radicals from the water molecules.

We do this by imbedding positive information into the minerals, which changes the vibration, and then choosing a specific direction of effect. It's very similar to embedding information to a CD. You choose the songs you want or information and you save it to the CD. Then when you put the CD into the player it responds to the information given to it.

Our bodies respond to all information given to it and we have found that through an information transfer system we are able to positively alter our negative vibrations.

First, by recognizing that those negative energies are there, then choosing to communicate to those molecules and watching that system of molecules respond to the information given to it.

Subtle vibrations are around us everywhere some really good and some very damaging. Radioactive pollution is extremely dangerous and we are exposed to it in our atmosphere.

Recent natural disasters have caused even more exposure; it's in our water and our air. The importance of building the system with these minerals drives the body to defend its ground against these harmful energies and radioactive pollution.

These drops are available at my office with consultation.

Dr Diana Lawson DC