

Smart Living with Solar plus Storage

Presented by: DuPont | Booth #2216, 2217, 2218

This demonstration will focus on Renewable Energy and how builders are building energy-efficient homes, and with solar and a battery backup, the possibilities are endless. Find out that not only does this battery backup the solar they produce, but they could if needed live off-grid. The technology side is integrated with home automations and also can help with electrical surges which could damage home automation systems. This is the most advanced technology out on the market today, and it is the future. Builders will see the importance of offering Solar and Battery in today's homes. Families want to live Green and what better way than to produce your own energy.
