Chief Executive (GuideStar Nonprofit Profile, June 2016)

Ms. Keyneica Jones

Chief Executive Profile:

Ms. Jones brings to the organization over fifteen (15) years of management experience in the housing, economic, community development and redevelopment profession. In addition, Ms. Jones holds a BA degree in Criminal Justice from Chapman University. Over the last 5 years, Ms. Jones has administered over 20 million dollars in federal and state funding from the U.S. Department of HUD, the Environmental Protection Agency, local government General Funds and Redevelopment Agency funds. Ms. Jones has administered grant budgets to social service providers in the target area and monitored activities and compliance for an array of nonprofit organizations serving at risk youth, family, the homeless population, small business, and elderly and disabled individuals. In addition, Ms. Jones has overseen construction and predevelopment loans to nonprofit and for profit multi-family housing developers. Her community engagement, grant writing, federal fiscal monitoring and managerial experience provides Silence Aloud, Inc. with an astute community leader and professional that will propel the organization to attain its mission and goals.
