

Samantha Lee

About Me Page

<http://carolinasuccessteam.com/about-us/our-team/>

Samantha Lee is a long-time veteran of the real estate industry. She began her career in real estate in New York where she successfully helped hundreds of families buy and sell their homes. Three years ago she fell in love with the upstate South Carolina area and decided to continue to expand her real estate empire here.

A proud member of the Keller Williams Realty International family, Samantha's unique approach to customer service has earned her tremendous client loyalty. She strives to combine her innovative marketing strategies with her passion for helping others. The result? An experience that both buyers and sellers agree is superior. Samantha knows that it takes more than just a wink and a smile to get a house sold. Her aggressive multi-tiered approach to marketing her listings is what has helped her upstate South Carolina sellers get their homes sold quickly. Her expert-level negotiation skills ensure that her clients' goals are achieved and they walk away from each closing with their dreams realized.

Samantha and her team specialize in three very unique types of upstate South Carolina properties: mountain-view homes, luxury upstate South Carolina waterfront properties, and homesteads. By concentrating their focus on buyers and sellers within this niche, Samantha and her team have established themselves as the local upstate South Carolina luxury property experts.

While her primary focus is selling luxury upstate South Carolina real estate and upstate South Carolina water front properties, Samantha's 10+ years of experience in selling homes of all sizes, has prepared her to work with buyers and sellers of all price ranges. From the smallest upstate South Carolina cape home to multi-family investment properties, and everything in between, Samantha and her team have the expertise it takes to get you the "sold" sign you deserve.

Samantha's passion for helping others and giving back carries through everything that she does. When she isn't busy helping her clients realize and achieve their real estate dreams, she enjoys spending time giving back to the upstate South Carolina community in other ways.

Her undying love for animals drove Samantha to begin volunteering at the local animal shelter. After seeing the plight of so many animals in the animal shelter, Samantha decided to use her business to save as many animals as she could. Learn more about how buying and selling real estate in the upstate South Carolina area with Samantha Lee helps save shelter animals!

Outside of her regular contributions to the local animal shelter, Samantha attends charity events frequently. Otherwise, you are likely to find her boating out on Lake Keowee, tending to her vegetable garden, target shooting, or just enjoying a beautiful South Carolina day with her family and her two dogs and her cats.

Want to know how much your upstate South Carolina property is worth? Click here. Or, you can begin searching for your next home by clicking here.