

The Millionaire Mindset

One of the top 3 questions people ask me in a session is about their finances. Either is there enough? Will I have enough? Or, how do I create more?

Money represents the flow of energy. To attract a steady money-flow in our lives, we must learn to view money, not as a thing, but as an expression of energy, an expression of "our" energy. We are either drawing money to us or repelling it by our energy. Knowing how to use your money energy is also part of magnetism. Making the very best of what you have. Wealth cannot be equated with a fixed number. It is how you view what you have and what you do with it. Stories upon stories exist of people who have relatively few resources, but are extraordinarily happy. They have learned to appreciate the beauty of what they have and do not see their circumstance as less-than. Of course, there are stories upon stories of people who have extraordinary resources and are quite unhappy.

Wealth is the consciousness of abundance. Poverty is consciousness of lack. Both are states of mind. You are as rich or as poor as you believe yourself to be. There is often an unconscious energy that either propels us into wealth consciousness or repels us from wealth consciousness.

There are many "to do" steps one can take to become a millionaire. At the core of the "to do" list is mastering the mindset.

The mindset must be grounded in the following elements:

1. Security within yourself - What is true wealth?
2. Awareness of a greater reality
3. An understanding that you are part of an intelligent reality
4. An understanding of what is available
5. Living wisely, making sound choices
6. The value of giving
7. The need for concentration
8. Attending to the Subconscious
9. The Power of Affirmative statements
10. Cultivating Practical Idealism
