For the Newcomer

As recovering gangsters we find joy in representing a more positive approach to life. In our day to day struggle with living life as normal people we often fall into despair. We are type cast as criminals in every area of life. Some are lucky enough to appear innocent, while others have the look of the super predator. We learn to stand in our own brand of dignity throughout all negative scenarios. We have seen the worst of us overcome the initial stigma of the recovering gangster. Recovery has many rewards and gifts . We have come to realize the longer we stay gangster free, putting our freedom first, the easier life becomes. We begin by eliminating the negative opinion from our karma. We then eliminate the negative opinion from our personal space. Money property and prestige will begin to play an important role in our recovery.

Everyone witnessing our struggles will place these three items above any and all things important to us. We must remember where we come from and where we were headed when we placed these three items ahead of our recovery. With our higher power and patience we in recovery have come to realize freedom first.
