

Dave:

You're more than a friend. You're a brother!

As a speaker you are focused and gifted. I've watched on and off the platform. The level of integrity, intelligence, intensity and investment you bring both on and off the platform add up to one thing, value.

Wherever you are you add value.

Your clients can trust that you will be their greatest ally in making a difference.

You use the powerful gifts you've been given to help organizations and people realize their truest and fullest potential.

As a coach your vast experience and "fresh set of eyes" help us see beyond where we are to what we can and will be. You have the courage and confidence to challenge us to be better so we can know the true joy of greatness committed to purpose.

You're better than when I met you. That says a lot because when I met you, you were President of the National Speakers Association. That's because you keep learning. You keep growing and remain committed to helping others grow.

You put the PRO in professional. Better still you put the FRIEND in friendship. That's the best part!

Onward!

Love you Brother,
