

Company History

Wells Cargo, Inc. holds the lowest-numbered active contractor's license in the state of Nevada. A family business that was started by Howard A. Wells Sr. and his two brothers in 1935 began as a one truck operation that hauled goods to the lumber and mining camps in Sierra Nevada. Over the years it has grown into a diverse Construction, Mining, Transportation, and Land Development company. Howard's son, Howdy, took over in 1971 and today, Wells Cargo has entered its 3rd generation of leadership under Howdy's son, Guy, who serves as President and CEO.

Gravel & Grading Services

Wells Cargo Construction knows about having the proper foundation which is why part of their expertise is on "rough grading", knowing that the soil must be restructured and compacted to exactly the right point with no environmental compromises.

Nevada has one of the most diverse subsoil types in the U.S., which is why this requires knowledge in preparing each individual job site.

The steps required to complete the job vary from site to site, experience in these situations is what allows us to determine the treatment needed to assure the laying of a proper foundation for the construction to follow.

Haul routes and cycle times drive the job plan, but achieving the project goal is a function of machine power and experience. At Wells Cargo we use the loaders, scrapers, dozers, and rollers that are required to properly complete your job.
