THE National Association of Catholic Homes and Educators (NACHE) is bringing its annual conference to the Baltimore Convention Center, July 6-9th. The 2006 Catholic Family Expo will be one of the country's largest gatherings of its kind, and presents an opportunity for people to learn more about the Catholic Church and what they can do to strengthen themselves, their friends and families. Nearly a year ago, Cardinal Keeler expressed his excitement about the conference. "for me," he said, "It is an inspiration to see so many people take time out of their busy lives to focus on their marriages and on the formation of the Faith in their children." Speakers will be organized into four tracks: High School & Young Adults, Marriage & Family, Spirituality and Homeschooling. These tracks will be interspersed with major keynote speakers. There will also be an exhibit hall featuring Catholic books, gifts, academic curriculum materials, Catholic apostolates, and much more. You can explore the full conference schedule, speakers and exhibitors at www.NACHE.org
