All Souls

by Paul Turner

Crisp autumn chill penetrates our sweater-wrapped bodies to remind us of our weakness before the power of nature. As leaves fall from trees, plants die and animals retreat, we feel the impending threat of death which waits to take us home.

During this season of the northern hemisphere's year, the church celebrates the feast of All Souls. As our bodies and minds resign themselves to the inevitable cessation of life, our church calendar brings forth a somber feast to fit our temperament in these increasingly darkened days.

The solemnity of All Souls comes as an afterthought to that of All Saints. Having commemorated all the blessed who enjoy the face of God in their death, we turn our thoughts to the other souls who await the fullness of God's glory. The sequence of these two feasts implies a belief that those who have lived lives of holiness enjoy God's presence and can intercede for us before the throne of God. The feasts also imply that others, having lived more sinful lives, still await that glory. These are the dead we remember every November 2nd - members of our families, friends, the lonely and forgotten, and public figures who have touched our lives. On this day we pray that God will have mercy on them and grant them the vision of blessedness for which they longed.

When the church gathers for prayer on November 2nd, we still remember the faithful departed, even when it falls on a Sunday. Those who assisted us in life receive assistance from us in their death. This feast celebrates our union with the church in every place and beyond all time.

Prayer for our departed loved ones:

Eternal Rest grant unto them (him/her), O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them (him/her).
May they (he/she) rest in peace.

PARISH NURSE NOTES: As we approach All Saints Day, let us take a moment to think about loss and grief. It is part of life. It can't be avoided. When we suffer a loss, we need to grieve. Don't try to shut it out, it is hard work but God is with us. Try the psalms as a place to turn. There are many laments but also many moments where you can be reassured God is still there. Psalm 28 says, Blessed be the Lord, for he has heard the sound of my pleading: the Lord is my strength and my shield. You don't need to do it alone either. We have our prayer team who can visit and share with you, you can call a friend or there are support groups to help you. One source is Hospice. Their grief support groups are for anyone with a loss. Your loved one does not have to have been involved with Hospice. Hospice of Frederick County is here to help: 240-566-3030.
