

Five Practices that Cause “Money Magnetism”

Money represents a flow of energy. To attract a steady money-flow we must learn to view money not merely as a thing, but as an expression of energy...an expression of our energy.

In acquiring money, we don't just manipulate forces in our favor. Rather we attract money to us. The other side of this is that failure to acquire money is essentially an act of repulsion of money on our part, mostly unconscious. We may even push it away from us when we imagine that we are doing our best to acquire it.

How do we do this? The most common ways we do this is that we resist the present moment. We judge and reject what life offers to us. We neglect to see value in the moment we are in. The practice of accepting each moment as if we chose it, is the inner dance we all must master for abundance to flow.

The second most common way we push away abundance is that we neglect to acknowledge our divine birthright to receive and be abundant. We genuinely believe we do not deserve to have all our needs met beyond expectation. We must deprogram the false narrative that spreads this lie. It is imperative we understand our divine value.

When we accept the present moment with trust and joy, and our value is no longer in dispute it becomes simple to remain in the flow of abundance. Worry, concern, frustration, and self-doubt cease to be factors in our creative process.

What follows are five potent truths that cause us to become magnetic with money and anything else we deem to fall in the category of abundance:

1. It is an inner discipline first. If we want to be at peace around money we must first be at peace around money. When we worry, and stress-out about “not” having enough we are pushing abundance away. Learn to replace worry with trust that there is always enough. Refuse to give up inner peace to the idea of lack in any form, but especially with money.
2. Attraction is intentional. If we think of abundance as something we attract we are not "waiting" but engaged in the art of attraction. We must draw abundance to us by using high energy vibrations. We do that by intentionally choosing high vibration responses and deliberately shifting energy as needed. We take charge of our energy and our minds and do not allow lack of any kind to run the inner narrative.

3. Strive to create balance daily. There is no abundance formula that works every time other than creating balance. Balance inspires alignment to like vibrations. Balance is unique to each person on any given day. It requires a willing spirit, an open heart, and an honest desire to know our truth. In that we can master balance on any given day causing us to align with our highest good.
4. Perspective creates reality. We are as rich or poor as we believe our self to be. Some people equate wealth with investments, savings, income and property. Yet if one is wealthy in mind, or spirit, they may require very few material possessions to be perfectly satisfied with life. If one only considers wealth through material riches, they may be convinced they are poor even if they have millions of dollars. Wealth is the consciousness of abundance. Poverty is the consciousness of lack. Develop a wealth consciousness. You will love your life and feel rich. All your needs will be met.
5. Become a buoy in the ocean as a way of being. Control is an illusion. It limits our ability to receive. We do nothing alone. Everything is a collaboration. The more we understand we are part of a greater reality, and one wave in the ocean of energy that is consciousness, we free ourselves from the burden of the manifestation process. Our role becomes that of being fertile soil for all that divine consciousness wants to share with us. We achieve that through neutrality, trust and expectation that we will be showered with anything we need.

Becoming magnetic to money is about your frequency. It's about preparing yourself to receive and then taking action that feels in alignment with your goals and desires. Take time to consider the meaning of the words, balance, alignment, frequency, and receiver. They have very little to do with any action you may take. Often we do have to take action to realize a goal or desire. The most important steps of attraction happen before any action is taken.

We are all born with a certain level of magnetism based upon our karma. Any of us can raise our frequency and increase our money magnetism by training ourselves to be open receivers to the unlimited wealth that belongs to this universe and to us.
