OBITUARY

Gertrude Elizabeth Zeigler Langley was born on June 19, 1940, in Prattville, Alabama. She was the first born of Robert and Verda Tyus Zeigler's six children. Her early education began in Prattville until she reached high school. At that point, she entered Alabama State High School in Montgomery, Alabama, and received her high school diploma there. Later she attended Wayne State University. Gertrude was very creative. She greatly enjoyed doing different types of arts and crafts. Additionally, she was an avid gardener.

Every year she would always plant a variety of flowers, herbs and vegetables. Sometimes they flourished and sometimes they didn't, but she thoroughly embraced the challenge of trying. She was a former member of the Detroit Police Officers Wives Association. For many years, she and her husband, Raymond, enjoyed camping and traveling as members of the Rollin' Wheels Motorhome Club. The highlight of many family gatherings was Aunt Trudy's homemade yeast rolls.

All who knew her can attest to her big heart and very generous ways. Gertrude relished her role as family elder. She was always a confidant and a source of any type of support any one needed. And even more importantly, she always provided unconditional love. As the wife of a police officer and the mother of two sons in law enforcement, she would always say, "I don't care how big your badges are... I'm in charge around here!" She worked for the Michigan Employment Security Commission as an Employment Specialist where she assisted and supported those seeking employment via workshops and job-search counseling until her retirement.

On September 25, 1962, she married Raymond Edward Langley, who preceded her in death. She was a devoted wife who cared for her husband throughout his extended illness. She was the proud mother of two sons; Jeremy Ray Langley and Raymond Edward Langley Jr., and grandmother to Isaiah Raymond Langley and Raeana Catrice Langley.

Her memory will be particularly cherished by: her sons, Jeremy and Raymond; her grandchildren, Isaiah and Raeana; her siblings, Theadosia (Teddie)(Bob) Donald; Horace (Roberta) Zeigler; Glenda (Freddie) Caldwell; Beverly (Faye) (William) Dunn; and Yolanda (Adrian) Dunklin; and a host of nieces and nephews.

MEMORIES

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.
