Contractor to repair stucco, paint Chimes Tower exterior

Tower Foundation's BELLisimo fundraiser set for July 28

FOR THE ISLANDER

If you've been by the Chimes Tower recently, you may have noticed that the Catalina Chimes Tower Foundation is another step closer to restoring Avalon's beloved landmark, perched on the hill above Avalon Bay. The foundation hired Matt Sullivan of MKS Specialty Finishes to repair and renovate the decaying stucco and give the structure a fresh coat of paint.

"While we have a long way to go, it's very special to see the Chimes Tower coming back to life after all these years," says Alison Wrigley Rusack, chair of the CCTF. "I'm getting a sense of how my great-grandparents must have felt when they first commissioned the project in 1925 - excited for the community of residents and visitors to enjoy."

The next foundation fundraiser, the second annual BELLissimo event, is quickly approaching on Saturday, July 28, at Castillo del Mar, One Crescent Ave., Avalon, from 5 to 8 p.m. Highlights include hors d'oeuvres, libations, a silent auction, raffle drawings, retail shopping and a special chimes concert, all of which attendees can enjoy while admiring the beautiful view of Avalon Bay.

Tickets are $150, available online at CatalinaChimes.org/events, and are tax deductible to the extent allowed by applicable law. Those wishing to attend are encouraged to purchase tickets in advance as only a limited number are available. Please contact info@CatalinaChimes.org with any questions.

"It is wonderful to see the continued support of the community," says Blanny Avalon Hagenah, vice chair of the foundation. "We have some very exciting items for the silent auction again this year, with some anonymous contributions even showing up on our doorsteps. Thank you to all who have generously donated."

A sneak preview of the silent auction items will be available to view at CatalinaChimes.org, the week prior to the event.

If you're interested in volunteering at BELLissimo, please contact Blanny at catalinabh@aol.com.
