

Carol Seitz

Carol Seitz recently retired after a distinguished 30-year career as a Health Sciences professor at Santa Ana College. During her tenure, she taught thousands of students in the college's Career Technical Education Program, preparing future healthcare professionals in medical terminology, clinical and administrative medical office procedures, including insurance billing, computer applications, and office management.

Before joining Santa Ana College, Carol worked at a large cardiology practice for 10 years, where she managed and assisted with cardiac testing and patient care while also overseeing front-office administration and business management. Her career reflects a lifelong commitment to healthcare, education, and helping others succeed.

Carol graduated Cum Laude from the University of California, Irvine, with a degree in Art History and is also a graduate of the Southern California College of Medical and Dental Careers.

Carol and her husband, Pete, are actively involved in community and veteran support programs. They have a son and a daughter, and two grandsons. Carol is also an avid runner and can often be found on the trail several times a week.
