Cheryl Guyan is a Family Nurse Practitioner and Director of the O.A. Holzer Health Center on the campus of The Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne, Florida.

Cheryl graduated from Salve Regina University, Newport, RI with a Bachelor of Science Nursing degree with Honors. She then received her Master of Science Nursing degree with Honors from Maryville University in St. Louis, MO. She is a member of the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing. She currently holds National Board Certification as a Family Nurse Practitioner and has been Board Certified as a Critical Care RN (CCRN) and Oncology Certified Nurse (OCN). She also received a Post-Graduate Legal Nurse Consultant Certificate from Auburn University.

Cheryl began her career as a critical care and trauma nurse in Tucson, Arizona. While at the University Medical Center at the University of Arizona she was a charge nurse and preceptor in the Medical/Surgical/Transplant and Trauma Intensive Care Unit. She was fortunate enough to work with Dr. Jack Copeland, the cardiovascular surgeon who pioneered the Jarvik-7 artificial heart. After relocating to Georgia with her husband, who served as an Army Captain at Ft. Stewart, Cheryl worked as an Oncology Nurse Clinician and then as the Nurse Manager of the Medical/Surgical Intensive Care Unit at St. Joseph's Hospital in Savannah. After another move to southern California, she worked as the Critical Care Educator at Methodist Hospital in Arcadia and was an Affiliate Faculty with the American Heart Association Los Angeles for Advanced Cardiac Life Support, Pediatric Life Support, and Neonatal Life Support.

Cheryl then enjoyed the next few years at home with their son, daughter and four-legged family members in London, England and then the Space Coast of Florida. She was very involved with their activities and volunteered extensively taking on leadership roles with the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, PTO and various sports teams.

Cheryl and Bill met in Massachusetts while in high school. They have been married for 40 years. Together they enjoy watching the Boston Red Sox, New England Patriots and Auburn Tigers, traveling and spending time with their family. They reside on Merritt Island, FL.
