

Elvis Pritchett

Project Manager of Training
Sev1Tech

Elvis Pritchett was born in Selma, Alabama, and is a retired U.S. Army Signaleer with a distinguished career in tactical communications. He currently serves as the Project Manager of Training for Sev1Tech, supporting PEO C3N, where he leads efforts to develop and deliver cutting-edge training solutions for the force.

A dedicated husband and father of three sons, married for over 15 years to his wife Rhea, Elvis brings the same dedication to his family and passions as he did to his military career.

Outside of work, Elvis is passionate about college and professional football, traveling, hunting, fishing, grilling, and is a lifelong movie enthusiast.

In his spare time, he runs Pritchett's Travel, combining his love of exploration and adventure with helping others create memorable experiences.
